"Minutes, hours, days, months and years, Pass'd over to the end they were created, Would bring white hairs unto a quiet grave. Ah, what a life were this!"

President Coolidge is confined to the "White House" by what his physician calls a slight cold, but the Republican candidates are inclined to think he has the grip.

Speaking of a quiet grave, the town's just full of doctors, so that you can stick out your tongue at almost anybody without running the risk of giving the least offense, and standing a fairly good chance of getting a prescription for a half-pint.

We gather that Dr. Phillips came here to bury Wayne B. Wheeler, not to praise him.

Smooth-faced Pete, the prominent second-story worker, was around town yesterday bawling out the Supreme Court. He said that up until now he hasn't filed an income tax return for ten years, and look at the trouble this'll put him to.

Fatty Arbuckle is going to return to the stage, but haven't recent events in the Hollywood set made him too respectable to be a good drawing card?

New York crowds hurl insulting epithets at Mrs. Snyder as the wretched murderess is shipped off to the death house. They lynch 'em one way down South and another way up North.

The medical congress brings science and bigotry into conflict, from which, in the end, must emerge the triumph of enlightenment.

"But Faith, fanatic Faith, once wedded fast To some dear falsehood, hugs it to the last."

Mr. Harland is sworn in as traffic dictator, and hasn't been on the job long enough yet to be cussed out. "The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one another in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches; they shall run like the lightnings." So there is scriptural authority for this job.

Marine captain is killed in a violent outbreak of peace in Nicaragua. No near-sighted person could tell it from a regular war, but doubtless the authorities will be able to explain the difference.

The excavation of Herculaneum has defied human ingenuity for 1,848 years, but Mussolini will attend to it this afternoon, despite the skeptics.

"There is the vanity, the learning thine: Touch'd by thy hand, again Rome's glories shine; Her gods, and godlike heroes rise to view, And all her faded garlands bloom anew."

The Supreme Court sustains the constitutionality of the California law aimed at conspiracies to overthrow organized government by force. Happily, there was no such statute in Massachusetts in 1776.

The Chinese war breaks out on the California front.

The Supreme Court appears to interpret freedom of speech in the spirit of the old lady who gave her offspring permission to go in swimming.

"Yes, my darling daughter: Hang your clothes on a hickory limb, But don't go near the water."

Bold bandit robs an avenue store and locks the proprietor in, and now we know what is meant by "as mad as a hatter."

King Alfonso celebrates the 25th anniversary of the day he was crowned, but has lost track of the number of times he has been beamed.

The President's inability to make up his mind where to spend his vacation leaves Colorado a doubtful State.

The Paul Kelly murder trial now reaches the "Jungle Stories" stage.

The New England army and navy forces are standing in readiness to repel the enemy attack on Narragansett, and expect to be able to fall back on the Newport Casino tomorrow.

Army officer goes up in a balloon 42,470 feet. The height of folly.

Only 18,000 snipers apply for those 2,500 prohibition jobs. Is the dry movement about to collapse?

The Federal Council of Churches doesn't let a little thing like not understanding the Mexican problem prevent it from solving it.

CAPITAL MAN SLAIN IN NICARAGUA FIGHT; MARINES ATTACKED

Capt. R.B. Buchanan and a Private Are Killed; Two Wounded.

WIDOW AND CHILDREN OF OFFICER ARE HERE

'Useless Sacrificing' of Lives of Americans and Natives Charged by Sacasa.

17 OF U. S. FORCE DEAD, IS GUATEMALA REPORT

Liberal Envoy in Mexico Says He Has Word of Heavy Losses Near Leon.

Mexico City, May 16 (By A. P.).—Pedro Zepeda, representative here of the liberal Nicaraguan government, said tonight he had received special dispatches from Guatemala reporting that 17 United States marines and 25 liberals were killed in a clash when the marines attempted to disarm a liberal group at La Paz, between Leon and Managua.

The liberals, Zepeda adds, withdrew into the mountains and were not pursued by the marines.

[Numerous communications from Nicaragua, said to touch on routine matters, were received by the Navy Department last night, but none even remotely indicated such an extensive engagement as reported by Pedro Zepeda, Mexico City representative of the liberal Nicaraguan government. It was felt that in the excitement of the fight between liberal and soldiers and American marines, Zepeda's sources may have inadvertently exaggerated the casualties, although, it was pointed out, no information to substantiate this opinion has been received.]

Captain and Private Dead.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 16 (By A. P.).—Capt. R. B. Buchanan and Private Marvin Jackson, of the United States marines, were killed last night in a clash with a band of liberals at La Paz Centro, near Leon, it was announced today.

Corpl. Anthony J. Raush and Private William Stinson, of the marines, are reported to have been slightly wounded in the clash.

Late reports today placed the number of liberal dead at fourteen.

Gen. Jose Moncada, liberal military leader, who has accepted the peace proposals presented by Henry L. Stimson, representative of President Coolidge in the Nicaraguan peace negotiations, is leaving today for Leon to attempt to persuade the liberals there to lay down their arms in accordance with the peace agreement.

Mr. Stimson left today for Corinto, being accompanied to the station by Gen. Moncada and staff. Several hundred liberals who have laid down their arms paraded in orderly fashion through the streets of Managua this morning.

Stimson Policy Denounced.

Puerto Cabezas, May 16 (By A. P.).—In a statement today, Dr. Juan Sacasa, head of the liberal government, asserted that Henry L. Stimson, personal representative of President Coolidge in Nicaragua, instead of investigating the real situation appears to have been sent to Nicaragua for the express purpose of ramming down the throats of the Nicaraguan people the presidency of Adolfo Diaz.

He reiterated his stand that the liberals would not participate in the Diaz government and expressed fear that the disarming of liberal troops by the United States marines would result in bloodshed. Dr. Sacasa asserted that such bloodshed would "only be caused by the attitude of the American government."

In his statement, given to the Associated Press, he says:

"The fact that Mr. Stimson's personally represented President Coolidge awakened the hopes of the country which prizes an honorable peace, despite the obvious partiality openly exercised by the United States government in favor of Diaz. But Mr. Stimson, instead of investigating the real situation and doing justice to the Nicaraguan people, seems to have been sent for the express purpose of ramming down their throats the Diaz presidency; the same Diaz who, with Chamorro (Gen. Emilio Chamorro, former president) plotted the coup d'etat which violated the constitution and the Central American treaties signed in Washington which were made for the purposes of strengthening in these countries constitutional order and democratic institutions by means of impartial elections."

"Unprecedented" Threat.

"I do not believe, as Mr. Stimson has said, that the retention of Diaz in the presidency is still to the honor and prestige of the United States. On the contrary, my belief is that a great nation acquires honor and prestige by respect for the sovereignty of small weak countries instead of by the oppression of those which struggle for the security of their institutions."

9 Are Drowned in Attic; Hundreds Cling to Roofs

New Flood Threat Reported as Levees on East Bank of Atchafalaya River Crumble—Rescue Work Being Speeded by Fleet.

New Orleans, May 16 (By A. P.).—A new threat had arisen tonight as the Mississippi flood rolled down upon the five parishes in its path through the Atchafalaya to the Gulf of Mexico.

While hundreds of persons were reported clinging precariously to house-tops and treetops in the water-ridden parishes west of the Atchafalaya, engineers received the information that levees along the east bank of the Atchafalaya were caving before the tremendous pressure exerted by the stream.

At Woodice, 10 miles south of the junction of Old and Atchafalaya rivers, approximately 140 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the Mississippi the embankments were said to be falling and efforts were being made to get levee machines and pile drivers to the scene. A break there would loose the waters into Pointe Coupee and the other parishes between the Atchafalaya and the west bank of the Mississippi.

Rescue work was proceeding rapidly in the Bayou des Glaises sector with surf boats plying through the crevasse rapids to remove men stranded upon high spots in the section. Already the Atchafalaya had moved 25 miles down the Atchafalaya basin, milling into an ever-spreading lake which climbed slowly up toward the top of stationary objects.

At Plaquemine the current was so strong that it overturned large houses and smaller ones collapsed before the flood like eggshells or rose with the waters to be carried along and pounded to pieces by the waves.

The first report of loss of life in Louisiana came today with tidings of the drowning of a widow and eight children at Plaquemine after they had fled from the invading waters to the attic of their home. All lines of communication were down, however, and efforts to learn details of the fatalities were unavailable.

The crest of the flood was still miles up the Tensas basin, but the pounding torrents had torn away a 20-mile stretch of levees along Bayou des Glaises and engineers feared that the entire 50 miles of protecting embankments would be swept away by the waters sweeping into the Atchafalaya basin.

Evacuation of the flood stricken parishes was proceeding rapidly with all available boats being rushed to danger points. An aerial survey today showed 3,000 head of cattle and 50 men still along the levees.

GREAT POMP IN LONDON FOR FRENCH PRESIDENT

Gold Braid, Flashing Steel and Vivid Crimson Garb Mark His Welcome.

KING GEORGE AT STATION MAY NOT PAY, HOWEVER

(Special Cable Dispatch)

London, May 16.—Tons of gold braid and flashing steel against a background of vivid crimson jackets and prancing coal black horses were revealed today when Great Britain extended the royal welcome to the president of France, Gaston Doumergue.

From the moment the presidential train pulled into the special siding at Victoria station, carrying President Doumergue, Aristide Briand, France's foreign minister, and the royal escort, the Prince of Wales, the official welcome of the nominal head of the French republic took on all the glamour of a fairy tale pageant, with the king himself on hand, accompanied by Prince Henry and scores of high dignitaries, all gorgeously uniformed.

Outside the station a brilliant cavalcade of the king's own guards mounted on spirited chargers was drawn up to lead the royal procession through the lane of resplendent foot guards holding back the thousands of expectant spectators, many waving British and French flags. Windows and house tops were jammed with eager faces straining to catch their first view of the modest little man in somber soldier attire whose visit is setting all London agog.

As the train came to a halt, the Grenadier guard band struck up the "Marseillaise."

King George was the first to step forward to greet President Doumergue with outstretched hand and a smiling welcome. After a brief exchange of warm greetings, the king presented Mr. Doumergue to the distinguished company, including Earl Beatty, Duke of Connaught, and then greeted his own son, the Prince of Wales, who had left a few hours before with Earl Haig to escort the president from Dover.

Amid the din of cheers, the "Marseillaise" and "God Save the King," President Doumergue, King George, the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry took their places in the first state carriage or blazoned with the royal coat of arms. They were followed by Foreign Minister Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain and the others, after which the royal procession started off at a slow

DEMENTED SOLDIER SUICIDE IN HOSPITAL

Texas Private Hangs Self in Washroom at Walter Reed.

Eluding guards and fellow patients, Robert B. Bryson, 22 years old, a patient in the psychopathic ward at Walter Reed hospital, committed suicide by hanging himself yesterday morning in a washroom in the ward. Corner J. Ramsey Nevitt issued a certificate of suicide.

Bryson, shortly after arising, obtained a leather strap. While the other patients were eating breakfast he went to the washroom, suspended the strap from a pipe near the ceiling, tied it around his neck and stepped from a chair. His body was found 5 minutes later by Louis J. Norman, an employee of the institution. He summoned Maj. John Anderson, of the hospital staff, but efforts to revive Bryson proved futile.

Bryson was relieved of duty as a private in the army in Texas two months ago and was sent here for treatment. Physicians said he was suffering from dementia praecox. His body was sent to his home in Pennsylvania last night.

AIRMEN IN DISPUTE OVER CAPITAL VISIT BEFORE OCEAN HOP

Bellanca Aviators Refuse to Fly Here as Their Backer Planned.

WEATHER PREVENTS ANY TAKE-OFF TODAY

Acosta Is to Fly With Byrd; Search for Nungesser and Goll Goes On.

Mineola, N. Y., May 16 (By A. P.).—Brewing storms, both atmospheric and verbal, kept the transatlantic planes in their hangars today.

Strong, squally winds swept the flying fields all day so that projected local test flights had to be abandoned, and a combination of wind and dissonance prevented another longer flight that had been announced at noon for this afternoon.

During the morning, the crews of all three planes which plan the Paris hop worked around the hangars and an air of peace settled over the camps with the report that dissonance between fliers and backers of the Bellanca flight had been smoothed out to the satisfaction of all.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, announced that his giant Fokker, America, would go up during the day with a 12,000-pound load, which is 2,000 pounds below the weight to be carried on the hop-off.

G. Bellanca, designer of the plane in which Clarence Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud will fly for France, stated that his monoplane probably would fly to Washington and back during the day to test instruments. He said that both fliers had agreed such a test was necessary.

Winds Prevent Byrd Flight.

The America test flight was called off because of unfavorable winds. These winds, no doubt, would have prevented the flight of the Chamberlin-Bertaud Columbia, too, but it was stopped without consideration to the weather by the fliers themselves.

When told of Bellanca's announcement, they said they had no intention of flying to Washington and that they had never agreed to make such a flight. Their remarks were taken as an indication that the new financial agreement reached yesterday had not smoothed out all the differences between the various persons interested in the flight and that harmony was balanced on an exceedingly fine point.

This theory was further strengthened when it was learned that a controversy was under way concerning equipment of the plane with a radio. Chamberlin and Bertaud have planned all along to carry radio, but today Charles Levine, president of the company backing the flight, suggested doing without it. He was insistent in his contention that the 60 pounds saved by leaving the radio at home would add enough speed to outweigh what service the radio might prove to be.

Threat Not to Make Trip.

Bertaud emphatically stated that he would not make the trip without radio and Chamberlin declined to make any statement, at least publicly, taking no part in the controversy.

While the Byrd party went ahead with plans for test flights which will postpone their hop-off at least three days and the Chamberlin-Bertaud camp was split by apparently growing dissonance, Charles Lindbergh, the youthful air mail pilot from the middle West, went to New York to see about a passport, and his single-seated monoplane, Spirit of St. Louis, rested in its

PRESIDENT HAS COLD IN CHEST; SEEKS BED

Ailment Slight, Cough Says. Pulse and Temperature Normal.

(By the Associated Press.)

President Coolidge was forced to bed early yesterday afternoon from a cold. The cold was described as "slight" by Dr. James F. Coupal, the White House physician. Dr. Coupal said there was no temperature and that the President's pulse was normal. He prescribed a rest for the President for the remainder of the day.

Mr. Coolidge left his desk a little earlier than usual yesterday, and when Dr. Coupal made his call he suggested that he go to bed. The cold is in the chest.

"Princess" Is Ordered Returned to America

Liverpool England, May 16 (By A. P.).—The home office has ordered that a passenger describing herself as "Princess Nadine de Charrow," of the Third precinct, who arrived on the steamer Cedric today, be returned to the United States Saturday.

"Princess de Charrow" sailed from New York on the Cedric May 8. The princess said she was a daughter of Grand Duchess Udoxia, of Russia, and related to the Prince of Wales. When she departed from New York she is reported to have said that she was going to visit King George of England.

VIRGINIAN IS SLAIN; WRITER-HOST HELD; SHOOTING MYSTERY

Accident Is Only Version of W. P. Irwin, Victim, and L. Cline.

ARRESTED MAN GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE OTHER

Shotgun of Former Fired Shortly Before Doctor Arrived, Is Charge.

Willimantic, Conn., May 16 (By A. P.).—Wilfred Irwin, of New York city, who was shot in an unexplained manner at the home of Leonard Cline, playwright and novelist, in Mansfield this morning, died at St. Joseph's hospital here late tonight. An effort to save his life earlier in the night, when Cline gave a pint of his blood in a transfusion operation, failed.

Cline is being held without bail in connection with the shooting.

Mystery surrounds the case, for, although Irwin asserts the shooting was "accidental," neither he nor Cline would explain the circumstances.

Doctor Called to Home.

The shooting first came to the attention of the authorities this morning when Dr. J. E. Ottenheimer, of this city, was called to the Cline home. There the physician found the wounded man in a partly furnished room and suffering from a gaping wound in his side.

Irwin was taken to the hospital here and then it was learned that the wound had been caused by a gunshot. Cline had accompanied Irwin to the hospital, but neither would say anything about the shooting other than to repeat that it was an accident.

Because of Irwin's weakened condition, it was found at the hospital tonight that a blood transfusion was necessary. Cline gave a pint of his blood in an attempt to save Irwin's life.

Shotgun Had Been Fired.

State police called in to investigate learned that a shotgun owned by Cline had been fired within a few hours of the doctor's visit to the Cline home, and the playwright was questioned. He declined to make a statement, placed the matter in the hands of an attorney and referred all questioners to the latter. The attorney also refused to talk after he had conferred with Cline.

Irwin was a guest at the Cline home. The Mansfield place was purchased by the playwright two years ago.

Several days ago Irwin was fined $50 and costs on a disorderly charge. While he is said to be a writer, he also is in the insurance business.

Richmond, Va., May 16 (By A. P.).—George Irwin, brother of W. P. Irwin, Jr., wounded when accidentally shot by Leonard Cline, playwright, in Connecticut today, left Lexington today for the bedside of the wounded man, his father, W. P. Irwin, Sr., said over long-distance telephone today. W. P. Irwin, Jr., attended Washington and Lee university about twenty years ago, but was not graduated. He has been in the insurance business in New York city for five years.

CONFESSES CHOKING GIRL, 14, TO DEATH

Easton Youth, According to Police, Then Flung Body Over Fence.

Special to The Washington Post.

Easton, Md., May 16.—In a sworn statement made today to Sheriff Thomas J. Faulkner, Harry Pinder admitted that he killed Dorothy Marie Allen, 14 years old, on the road near Sherwood the night of May 7.

According to information gathered by the police, Dorothy's mother sent her to the store at Sherwood for groceries. On her way home she was overtaken by Pinder, who grabbed her, stuffed his handkerchief into her mouth and choked her to death. He then dragged her to a nearby wheat field, it is charged, and threw the body over a fence, where it was found the next day by Robert Honey, 15-year-old colored boy.

State Attorney Henry H. Balch will present Pinder before the grand jury, which is now in session, on a charge of murder.

Frank Shore, Jr., Cut In Stabbing Affray

Frank Shore, Jr., 20 years old, 2910 M street northwest, was stabbed in the back and seriously wounded during a fight in a house near Twenty-sixth and K streets northwest, shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, according to police. He was found lying unconscious at Twenty-seventh and K streets by Policemen Frank Tierney and William Christian, of the Third precinct. Physicians at Emergency hospital, where he was treated, said that Shore's condition is serious but not critical. Shore was unable to tell police who stabbed him. He said that after receiving the wound he staggered from the house to the spot where he was found.

ENGINEER ASKS $50,000 FROM COOLIDGE PASTOR

Libel Is Alleged in Letter Dr. Pierce Wrote to Ship Board Head.

HOGAN TO DEFEND SUIT

The Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church, of this city, which President Coolidge attends, was sued yesterday in the circuit division of the District of Columbia Supreme court for $50,000 damages for alleged libel by Howard T. Cole, Shipping Board engineer, of 1838 Connecticut avenue northwest.

Cole charges that on April 2 the defendant pastor wrote a letter to Gen. A. C. Dalton, president of the board, and demanded his (Cole's) dismissal from the government service. The letter contained charges of acts involving moral turpitude, according to the copy attached to Cole's declaration.

The pastor also wrote an explanatory letter on May 10, it is charged, which contained about the same statements as the letter of April 2, it is charged. Copies of the letters were given to Admiral W. B. Benson and W. S. Hill, of the board, it is asserted.

Cole says there was no reason for the writing of the letters as the statements contained therein were false and malicious, and were designed to blast his reputation. Attorneys Rufus W. Pearson and E. M. Martin appeared for Cole.

Frank J. Hogan, retained as counsel by Dr. Pierce, declared last night that steps taken by his client had been altogether within his rights.

"I have advised Dr. Pierce," he said, "that the action he took was entirely in line with his duties as a pastor."

Work Invites Oil Men To a Conference Here

New York, May 16 (By A. P.).—An invitation was extended today by Hubert Work, chairman of the Federal oil conservation board, to the committee of five, appointed last week to formulate plans to combat the overproduction of crude oil, to attend a conference in Washington on May 23.

No member of the committee, which is headed by Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, was in New York, but it was believed in oil circles that the acceptance of the invitation was a foregone conclusion.

Airplane Overtakes In Water; 8 Saved

Mexico City, May 16 (By A. P.).—Six passengers and two German pilots were almost drowned when the hydro-airplane Golfo overturned while alighting at Frontera, state of Tabasco, yesterday. The passengers crawled through the cabin windows and swam to boats which put out from shore when the accident happened.

The Golfo was returning from Progreso on its maiden trip in the passenger and mail service along the Gulf of Mexico.

CHINESE WIELD AXES ON OFFICERS OF SHIP

White Officials, in Valiant Stand, Inflict Severe Beating on Mutineers.

San Pedro, Calif., May 16 (By A. P.).—Wielding knives and fire axes, two score Chinese stokers and tenders in the engine room of the Dollar liner President Wilson rushed six white officers while the big passenger vessel lay alongside her dock here this morning. The half dozen assistant engineers stood off the battling Chinese and finally quelled the mutiny.

Two of the seven engineers suffered minor cuts. Seven or eight of the Chinese, including three or four ring-leaders, required treatment by the ship's surgeon. Several of the Chinese were knocked unconscious in the battle.

The little band of whites stood guard in the machine shop while the onrush of fighting Chinese was beaten back. No call was made on police for aid and company officials had no statement to make.

Fanned grievances on the part of the Chinese "black gang" were believed to have started the outbreak, coupled with bitterness over present strife in China.

DOCTORS CONSIDER LIQUOR RESOLUTIONS IN SECRET SESSION

Issues Bear on Federal Law That Regulates Medicinal Spirits.

LEGISLATION INSURING PURE ROUGES ASKED

Proposed Ruling to Lower Income Tax of Patients Is Offered.

Resolutions dealing with prohibition, cosmetics and the income tax law were introduced yesterday at the initial meeting of the house of delegates of the American Medical association, held in the headquarters of the District of Columbia Medical society.

Two resolutions bearing on the law governing medicinal liquor were introduced, but were not made public, the house of delegates deciding to consider them behind closed doors.

A resolution urging the enactment of a Federal law to regulate the manufacture of cosmetics was introduced by Dr. O. S. Wightman, of New York. Such a law, he said, was needed to prevent the use of poisonous substances in cosmetics.

Another resolution asked for an amendment to the income tax law which would allow the taxpayer to deduct from his taxable income the cost of medical and surgical services and funeral expenses. This resolution was introduced at the request of the State Medical society, of South Carolina.

Dr. P. S. Roy, of this city, introduced a resolution which would place the association on record as favoring a "medical practice act" for the District of Columbia. The bill providing for this failed of passage at the last session of Congress. It would compel chiropractors and others who practice the healing art to take a course such as forms the basis of the regular medical course and would have them examined by a board composed of representatives of their own professions and of the regular medical profession.

Coolidge to Talk.

The house of delegates is the legislative and administrative body of the association. The first meeting of all the members of the association now here will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Arcadia auditorium, Fourteenth street and Park road northwest. The address of welcome will be given by President Calvin Coolidge.

For all the efforts of certain interests to "soft pedal" the question, prohibition seems destined to be a big issue at this seventy-eighth session of the association. It came up at the very outset of the meeting yesterday when Dr. Wendell O. Phillips, president of the association, declared the law limiting the amount of whiskey a physician may prescribe was a "triumph of legislative imperialism."

Honor! Noted Physicians.

Yesterday afternoon several delegations placed wreaths on the statues, busts and portraits

TRADE AND LANDS FOR SUBURBAN CITIES NEEDS RECONSIDERED

Equitable Fiscal Relation Between District and Federal Governments Advocated.

TAX PROBLEM REQUIRES STUDY, IT IS ASSERTED

Water Supply to Be Subject of Exhaustive Research by Committee.

Plans for an extensive survey of the needs of the District of Columbia to be made by the American Medical Association's committee on the tax problem of the District.

An equitable fiscal relation between the District and Federal governments will be advocated. The acquisition of taxable property for parks and new government buildings and its relation to the tax problem of the District needs a thorough study, it was said.

The committee of the water supply, headed by Francis R. Weller, will make a study to ascertain the amount the District and Federal governments should pay for water. The committee will also review the needs for a high pressure main.

A bridge program will be advocated to replace bridges in the District. Chain bridge, it was pointed out, is constructed of hollow steel and the possibilities are that the steel is rusting inside.

The traffic problem will also be considered with particular attention to the situation in the triangle bounded by Pennsylvania avenue, Fifteenth street and B street, and where new government buildings are to be erected. The ultimate development of the north side of Pennsylvania avenue will be the subject of an exhaustive study.

The extension of Fourteenth street, New York avenue, New Hampshire avenue and Wisconsin avenue to the District will be pushed by the streets and avenue committee headed by George C. Shinn.

The public order committee will investigate the need of a central police building. A study of the police and fire departments will be made. The public utilities committee will hold hearings on the proposed street car merger.

Other matters that will receive attention are: The purchase of school sites, a general harbor and river development, the sewerage system, the electric light, the diploma mill situation, the advisability and needs of an armory for the national guard, and appropriation for parks and playgrounds.

Former Garfield Doctors Organize

The Association of Former Garfield Memorial Hospital was organized last night at a meeting of approximately 70 former house medical officers in the Hamilton hotel.

Dr. A. B. Bennett outlined the history of the hospital. Others who spoke were Drs. William M. Sprague, Francis R. Weller, Wayne Cowan, Kate B. Hargrove, Frank E. Gibson, and Dr. George C. Shinn.

Amateur Horse Show At Rock Creek Field

Sponsored by the Welfare Association of Public Buildings and Grounds, cooperating with the Wardman Park Saddle club, a horse show for amateur and pro riders will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Rock Creek parkway equitation field.

Horses may be entered in ten classes, with a prize of $100 for the winner. Admission to the show will be free to the public. Motorists may park their cars in a circle around the field, provided they enter the park on the main road.

Dr. Willey Welcomes Missionary Society

Opening the fiftieth annual convention of the Christian Missionary Society of Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, the Rev. Earle Willey, pastor of the Vermont Avenue church, last night welcomed the delegates to the fourth session in Washington, at a meeting in the church.

Dr. A. B. Abbott, of St. Louis, delivered the convention sermon, holding the teachings of the gospel responsible for the development of science, democracy, abolition of slavery and abolition of the saloon. The great crusade of the future will be for the abolition of war, he said. This morning's session will be devoted to reports on business and conferences on women's work, church problems and Bible school work.

There will be a banquet for men at the Franklin Square hotel.

Europe Is Blamed For Chinese Trouble

The cause of the present trouble in China can be laid to the aggressive policy of the European powers. The center, professor of international law at a Chinese university, told the graduating class at the Chevy Chase school yesterday. He declared that the United States could better its position in China by flattery declaring itself opposed to the annexation of a single foot of Chinese soil.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Henry T. Cooke, Frederick E. Partridge, headmaster of the school, presented the diplomas to the graduates of the class. Those in the secondary diploma class were Jean Dorothy Andries, of Maryland; Marjorie Estelle Brodson, of New Jersey; Valeria Estelle Brodson, of Pennsylvania; Juliet Warner Koozer, of Missouri; Marjorie Irving Lemaux, of Indiana; Eleanor Sophie May, of West Virginia; Olivia Eleanor Scoville, of New Jersey; Martha Carrington Simms, of Ohio, and Adda White Smith, of Colorado. Phyllis Adele Robinson, of Massachusetts, and Aleck Janet Siegel, of Kentucky, were presented with advanced diplomas.

Today's program for the seventy-eighth annual convention of the American Medical Association:

9 a. m.—Meetings of the following sections: Practice of medicine; obstetrics, gynecology and abdominal surgery; laryngology, otology and rhinology; pathology and physiology; preventive and industrial medicine and public health; urology and orthopedic surgery.

10 a. m.—Diagnostic clinics:
Obstetrics, gynecology and abdominal surgery—Dr. George G. Ward, of New York, at Columbia hospital.

Laryngology, otology and rhinology—Dr. L. W. Dean, Iowa City, in the banquet hall of the Raleigh hotel.

Dermatology and syphilology—Dr. George M. MacKee, of New York, at Mount Alto hospital.

Urology—Renal tuberculosis—Dr. Herman Kretschmer, of Chicago; renal stone—Dr. A. L. Chute, of Boston, in the hall of the Department of the Interior.

Orthopedic surgery—A general orthopedic clinic—Dr. Albert H. Freiberg, of Cincinnati, in Memorial Continental hall.

2 p. m.—Meetings of the following sections: Surgery, general and abdominal; ophthalmology; diseases of children; pharmacology and therapeutics; nervous and mental diseases; dermatology and syphilology; gastroenterology and proctology, and radiology.

8:30 p. m.—Opening session of the association in the Arcadia auditorium, Fourteenth street and Park road northwest. President Coolidge will speak.

AS PRESIDENT OF MEDICAL SOCIETY

Dr. Louise Tayler-Jones Is Chosen to Follow Education Into Office.

Progress in Medicine Related by Dr. Rose in Her Annual Address.

Dr. Elizabeth B. Thelberg, professor of Vassar college, yesterday was nominated for the presidency of the Medical Women's National Association, Inc., in annual convention at the Mayflower hotel, and Dr. Louise Tayler-Jones, of Washington, was nominated to be the next president.

The organization has a custom of nominating presidents for two years, each to serve one year. Nominations are equivalent to election.

Other nominations which, together with that of Dr. Thelberg, will be voted today, were: Dr. Olga Stataney, of Omaha, Neb.; Dr. Helen Palmer, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Dr. Mary McKibbin-Harper, of Oak Park, Ill.; Dr. Mary McKibbin-Harper, of Oak Park, Ill.; Dr. Mary McKibbin-Harper, of Oak Park, Ill.

Sunday the Association Against Impure Liquor issued a statement in which it denounced attempts on the part of either of the warring parties to influence the American Medical Association.

Dr. Morris Fishbein added another statement to the evergrowing list. It follows: "The Association Against Impure Liquor has the highest respect for the American Medical Association. The officers of the association resent the attempt of this promotional group to seize the opportunity of advancing its cause in connection with the annual session of the association. No individual has the right to expect the association to take any action in support of his cause. Only such actions as are taken by the house of delegates at this session are to be considered in any way."

Dr. Fishbein's statement was the object of his wrath—the Association Against Impure Liquor issued another statement. It was signed by Charles Caphart, the president.

Dr. Caphart denied that he had attempted to speak for the Association Against Impure Liquor. He declared that the Association Against Impure Liquor was composed of physicians, pharmacists and hospital authorities in every State. The aims of the association, he said, were to obtain pure medicinal liquor and to free the medical profession from the influence of untrained and incompetent men, and he suggested that a commission be formed to study the problem.

Dr. F. C. Warnshus, speaker of the house of delegates, declared there was evidence of poisoning done by untrained and incompetent men, and he suggested that a commission be formed to study the problem.

Dr. F. C. Warnshus also suggested the drafting of a bill setting up standards for hospitals. A large number of physicians, he said, were in unhealthful buildings and have unskilled attendants, physicians and surgeons.

Dr. James N. Jackson, president of the association, declared that the house of delegates should proclaim an "exposition of medical ethics" to overcome the fact that the physicians are misrepresented by their enemies.

Dr. Thomas A. Groover, of this city, delivered the eulogy of Dr. Crawford W. Long. Dr. Long, he said, was a pioneer in the use of ether as an anesthetic, while he was a "long doctor" in Georgia, of the controversy that raged over the discovery of ether, while he was a "long doctor" in Georgia, of the controversy that raged over the discovery of ether.

Jasper Compares Science, Past and Present

"Certainly I believe in science," said Jasper, combatively. "Take sickness, for instance. Day after day, sickness changes its name. It is not the same as it was. It is not the same as it was. It is not the same as it was."

"What is a sickness?" asked Jasper. "I rushed right off to see old Doc Quill; I stuck out my tongue and he took a pill. An' I ast how much, and paid de bill."

"That's what I does when I see sick," interrupted Nodocus. "Only I ain't never been sick myself. I'm a fundamentalist," replied Jasper with great conviction. "I'm a modernist, an' man! I got diseases, nobody don't know nuthin' about. You remember dat bad laig I had, don't you? Well, you-all ain't seen me limpin' aroun' none now lately, is you?"

"You bin ter de doctor?" demanded Nodocus. "I reckon if you kin pay de doctors you kin pay dat I. O. U. you owes me from de last pokah name."

"You ain't no mo' doctors," interrupted Jasper, hurriedly. "I see you're ter de specialist. Day after day, sickness changes its name. It is not the same as it was. It is not the same as it was. It is not the same as it was."

SAFETY IN OPERATIONS TO DEATH UNDER TRUCK

ELECTRICITY IS STUDIED DRIVER HELD BY POLICE

The congress of anesthetists is meeting at the Roosevelt hotel in conjunction with the general medical convocation in furtherance of their effort to make the world safe for the operating table, or, rather, that 72 hours immediately following it. And in so doing they are drawing on the experiences and other branches of the government.

Despite the popular belief, it is not the operating table to be feared, according to Dr. F. H. McMechan, secretary general of the Associated Anesthetists of the United States and Canada, and who is so wrapped up in telling other folk that he has forgotten his own, which necessitated keeping a wheel chair—but the fateful 72 hours that follow. Statistics show, he said, that this is when most of the surgical deaths come.

As a result the anesthetists are out for all the knowledge they can get. When the army and navy aviators break altitude records, the anesthetists learn the pattern undergoing an anesthetic has the same experience as the aviator who reaches up to the skies. So Dr. McMechan. The barometric pressure on the aviator is the same as the anesthetic on the unsuspecting patient. Prof. Robert C. Knapp, of the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical school, New York, discussed these related pressures at yesterday's meeting.

The anesthetists have learned from the fliers, for example, that, first the sense of the eyes and then the sense of the ears, conscious talk, sight and finally hearing. By conscious talk is meant the ability of the mind to register words. Prof. Knapp said that, when 25,000 feet appears before the flier on the altimeter, he sees it but it means nothing to him.

MRS. SNYDER GRIES LITTLE AS SLAYERS NEAR DEATH HOUSE

Widow Expects to Return,
She Asserts, on Trip to Sing Sing Prison.

GRAY APPEARS A STOIC;
FEELS FINE, HE REPLIES

Sneering Remarks Are Hurling
at Widow by Crowds
Along the Way.

Special to The Washington Post.
New York, May 16.—The black gates of Sing Sing shut today behind Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray.

A little more than a month from now —probably six weeks, perhaps it may stretch to a year—and the murderers of Albert Snyder are destined to totter through a little door in the death house and gaze for the first time on the ghastly machine that will add the sum of their folly and wipe the slate of society clean.

They are calm even now, these passion-mad slayers of a sleeping husband.

They talked a little, smiled a little,
and the woman wept a little, as the cars that conveyed them from the Queens county jail to Sing Sing and to probable eternity pounded over the smooth Westchester roads.

She Embraces Catholic Faith.

And Ruth, it became known after she had entered the grim prison, has embraced the Catholic faith. She made her vows to become a Catholic in the warden's office in Sing Sing.

"I believe that Mrs. Snyder is truly repentant," said Father Murphy, chaplain of Queens county jail, tonight.
"She has expressed the desire to become a Catholic."

Father Murphy contrasted the repentant Ruth with the mocking throng of 5,000 persons who hurled epithets at Ruth and Gray as the cavalcade to the death house sped through Long Island city.

These people raised their arms in menacing gestures and called down curses upon the heads of the condemned.

"I am not afraid," she said, "and I expect to come back this way again and under more cheerful circumstances."

"Here they come! How do you feel now?" and a hundred other sneering utterances arose as the caravan, with a score of cars carrying newspaper men and women, streamed into the direction of the Queensborough bridge.

The widow was in black, wearing the same costume and the same black beads that she twisted endlessly during the trial.

The windows on her car were curtained, but now and then the curtains were flung up, and the sun, peeping now and then from under gloowering clouds, played at her feet.

Speed After Leaving City.

Once out of the metropolitan district the motorcycle police increased their speed, that the moment of the two erstwhile lovers—lovers yet, they themselves now say—might be as brief
as possible in the prison.

Only once did Mrs. Snyder betray any emotion. This was when her car sidewiped the motorcycle of Sgt. Cassady. He was thrown to the ground, scratched up just a bit, but the woman murderer buried her face in her hands and screamed, her emotion being contrasting strangely when held up to her confessed actions on the murder night.

While passing through Irvington, Clara's car nearly ran over a big police dog, and Ruth let out a cry of concern.

The people of Westchester were prepared for this pageant of death and hundreds stood on the street corners of the small towns as the caravan hurried past.

"It Won't Be Long Now."

Everywhere the reaction was the same, blank faces, frankly leering, the same shouts of derision or mock comfort.

"There she goes."
And other things—things not fit to print—to deaden their last minutes in the sunlight.

There were few words spoken in the cars that were plunging Ruth and Judd on toward their doom.

Once when Mrs. Wolff, a matron, asked her if she would be more comfortable if the handcuffs were removed, she smiled and answered:
"No, I don't think so. They'd get me there just the same."

And when the car passed the Dixie inn, on the Albany Post road, she brightened and volunteered "Judd and I were thinking of stopping there at one time."

Gray Proves the Stoic.

A brief spell of weeping overtook her as the cars men up to the prison.
Just as Mrs. Snyder was the stoic during the trial, so was Judd today.
Not once during the trip did he betray any fear.

"How are you feeling, Judd?" Sheriff Quinn asked, and Judd shrugged and answered "Fine."

He wore a tan shirt with a semitint white collar, a flowered tie, a light brown hat and a gray overcoat. He was quite the most sartorial death house prisoner from New York since Lieut. Charles Becker met his fate.

Ruth now occupies the same cell which sheltered two other female slayers of the last two years, who "beat the chair."

"There will be no reunion scenes here," according to Warden Lewis.
"They will live separately, and if they do not win a commutation, they will die separately."

Acosta to Fly With Byrd.

New York, May 16 (By A. P.).—Bert Acosta, who, with Clarence D. Chamberlin, brought the world's endurance flight record to the United States, has been selected to pilot Commander
Richard E. Byrd's Fokker monoplane America on the proposed New York-
Paris flight, the America-Transoceanic
Co. announced tonight.

The formal announcement of the selection of Acosta, which was made by Grover Whalen, personal representative of Rodman Wanamaker, confirms rumors that Chamberlin's former flying mate would be the third man in the America's cockpit when Commander Byrd gives the word to go.

The crew of the Fokker plane now is complete with Commander Byrd, navigator; Acosta, pilot, and Lieut.
George Noville, radio expert and engineer.

Acosta takes the place of Floyd Ber-taud, Byrd's pilot in his polar flight, who was injured when the America
four-continent flyer, tonight passed
April 16, on her first factory test.

Acosta gave way to Chamberlin in the Bellanca transatlantic crew because of his greater weight when one of them was obliged to drop out to make way for a navigator.

Search for Nungesser Goes On.

Quebec, Quebec, May 16 (By A. P.).
A hydroplane has been sent by the government of the province of Quebec to search in Labrador and along the north shore of the St. Lawrence river and gulf for the missing French fliers, Capt. Nungesser and Coll.

Premier Taschereau announced today.
The plane was due to arrive at Harrington, Labrador, 100 miles west of the Straits of Belle Isle, late today, but no report has yet been heard from
it. It is thought possible that it has been delayed by bad weather.

The plane is not fitted with wireless, but there is a station at Harrington.
The plane in its search will make a loop over Tadoussac, Seven islands and Blanc Sablon.

Plane Reported Found.

London, May 16 (By A. P.).—The air ministry has received information that a German steamer has found an aircraft, believed to be French, drifting off Lynn Well lightship near Hunstanton, Norfolk, bordering on the North Sea. The airplane bore the number
W. T. 122.

Paris, May 16 (By A. P.).—The committee backing the Nungesser Paris-
New York flight, according to the Havas news agency, declares that the Nungesser plane carried no such inscription as that on the plane said to have been seen by a German steamer in the North Sea.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, May 16 (By
A. P.).—Although a full week has passed since the day Capt. Charles Nungesser and Francois Coll, French transatlantic fliers, were expected to reach this side of the ocean on their nonstop Paris-New York flight, the fate of the aviators tonight, remained a mystery.

Since Monday of last week, when the fate of the White Bird, to return, reached its destination turned expectancy into gloom, coastal vessels, radio stations and all the agencies of the Newfoundland government have sought vainly for trace of the two French actress.

It was the general impression here tonight that the only hope remaining was that Nungesser and Coll had come down near the Grand Banks fishing fleet or in a remote cove of the south coast.

Days Being Searched.

In either case time would be required for news of the rescue to reach the outside world. The fishing vessel, it was believed, would finish its work on the banks before returning to port with the fliers. If the men landed in some far-off fishing settlement, it might be many days before the fact could become known here, due to the lack of communications along the coast.

Since Wednesday a number of persons in various parts of Newfoundland have reported hearing an airplane engine late Monday morning. The fog was dense at the time, and only one person, an aged woman in Harbor
Grace, claimed to have seen the plane.
Some of these reports have been dismissed after investigation. The reports came from places lying in a straight line across southeast Newfoundland from Harbor Grace, on Conception bay, 20 miles from the French islands of St.
Pierre-Miquelon.

If a plane actually passed over the island on that date the authorities believe that Nungesser and Coll must have reached the south coast in their flight. Search is being conducted in the area.

The French fliers, according to the theory by the French steamer Angers, from St. Pierre. The Newfoundland constabulary and the government telegraph service are cooperating in the search, as well as all coastwise shipping.

May Be In Labrador.

Ottawa, Ont., May 16 (By A. P.).—
The department of marine and fisheries received reports today from two government boats that search for the missing French fliers, Nungesser and Coll, was still unavailing.

The boats which have been assigned to search the waters between Canada and Newfoundland are the patrol boat

Mikula and the ice boat Montclair.

The opinion was generally expressed here today that if the airman had landed in Newfoundland, they would have been discovered before now. If they landed in Labrador, however, it was believed they could hardly be located within three weeks. No Labrador mail steamer is due to leave either Canada or Newfoundland until about June 1.

Byrd Is to Hop Off Later
In Week, He Tells Mother

Winchester, Va., May 16 (By A. P.).— Commander Richard E. Byrd, Jr., has no intention of undertaking a transatlantic flight probably until after the middle of the week, he indicated today in a telephone conversation with his mother, Mrs. Richard E. Byrd, who arrived here last night.

Commander Byrd assured his mother
he would not make the attempt to fly from New York to Paris without notifying her of the probable date, affording her and other relatives an opportunity to witness the takeoff. Mrs. Byrd and her son, Harry F. Byrd, are expected to go to New York for the event.

42,470 FEET HEIGHT
REACHED BY BALLOON

Highest Free Flight Ever Recorded Made at Scott Field on May 4.

A free balloon flight reaching the highest altitude ever achieved by man was announced by army air corps headquarters yesterday, following report from the National Aeronautic association, that calibration of the instruments of Capt. Walworth C. Gray, U. S. A., at Scott field, Belleville, Ill., by the bureau of standards, showed he had ascended to 42,470 feet, late today, at Scott field, May 4.

The association has forwarded the record to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale at Paris for confirmation as a new world's record for highest altitude in any type of aircraft, surpassing that of M. Caloz, France, for airplanes, by 1,650 feet, and that of Sur-ling and Benson, Germany, for free balloons, by 7,087 feet.

The official report of Capt. Gray, which reached the War Department yesterday, stated that finding his balloon was descending too rapidly, he made a parachute jump at 8,000 feet and landed unhurt in plowed ground.

DE PINEDO EXPECTS

Italian Flier, Delayed in Chicago, Plans to Hop Off for Montreal

Chicago, May 16 (By A. P.).—Commander Francisco de Pinedo, the Italian
four-continent flyer, tonight passed what he expected to be his last in the United States on his present four-continent flight.

De Pinedo delayed here today because of a fouled spark plug, hopes to depart for Montreal tomorrow. From there he will fly to Newfoundland, his last stop on the American continent before his jump to the Azores.

The delayed take-off from Chicago enabled the Italian flyer to carry out part of the program abandoned yesterday because of his late arrival.
Accompanied by Anthony Caproni, collector of customs, and the Italian consul, De Pinedo, placed a wreath on the statue of Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, in Lincoln park.

De Pinedo hopes to reach Rome by May 24, the twelfth anniversary of Italy's entrance into the world war.

RANCH IN COLORADO
OFFERED TO COOLIDGE

President Coolidge is understood to be strongly inclined to select a Colorado ranch, which has been offered to him, to spend his summer vacation.

Frederick H. Prince, Boston capitalist and banker and close friend of the President, called at the White House yesterday and explained to Mr.
Coolidge that the people of Colorado were counting upon the President's selection of their State. After the conference, Prince was understood as hoping that their wishes will be granted.

The President was told by Prince that he could select one of twelve ranches offered by Prince's friends in Colorado and that the State would be honored to have him select his twelve ranches. The

Miss Whitney Not to Ask Pardon in West, She Says

Oakland, Calif., May 16 (By A. P.).—The Oakland Tribune today quoted Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney, whose attack on the constitutionality of the California syndicalism law failed in the United States Supreme Court, as saying she would not ask Gov. C. Young for a pardon. Miss Whitney faces a prison sentence of from one to fourteen years for violation of the California statute. "I have done nothing to be pardoned for," Miss Whitney, who was reached at her Carmel, Calif., home, was quoted as saying. "I have no intention of asking for a pardon. My plans are indefinite. I can confer with my attorneys. I have nothing to complain of in comparison to Sacco and Vanzetti."

District Attorney Al Warren, of Alameda county, said he could take no action to rearrest Miss Whitney until he has received a copy of the Supreme Court decision. Miss Whitney is at liberty on $10,000 bond.

DECLARES FREE SPEECH

Evidence Insufficient in Kansas Case of H. B. Fiske, Tribunal Rules.

(By the Associated Press.)

Constitutionality of the California syndicalism law aimed at conspiracies to overthrow organized government by force, was upheld by the Supreme Court yesterday.

In two decisions the court affirmed the conviction under that statute of Miss Charlotte Whitney, and of William Burns.

In another decision which dealt with the Kansas syndicalism law, the court held that the conviction under it of Harold B. Fiske was based on insufficient evidence.

In the Whitney case, validity of the California law was sustained without dissent, although Justices Brandeis and Holmes expressed regret that the question had not reached the court in such form as to permit a decision as to whether her acts constituted a violation of the State statute.

As for Burns, who was charged with circulating literature of the Industrial Workers of the World and of working as an I. W. W. organizer, the court held that there was enough evidence offered at the trial to warrant the judge in making certain instructions to the jury which were the basis for Burns' appeal.

Reviewing the conviction in the Kansas case of Fiske, who was charged with having in his possession a copy of the preamble of the I. W. W. constitution and with soliciting membership in that organization, the court decided that the State had failed to charge or show that the Industrial Workers of the World "advocated any crime, violence, or other unlawful acts or methods as a means of effecting industrial or political changes or evolution."

Law Meets Requirements.

Analyzing the charges against Miss Whitney growing out of her activities in assisting in the organization of the Communist Labor Party of California, the court, in an opinion by Justice Sanford, who also delivered the opinion in the Fiske case, said that the California law met the essential requirements of due process clause of the Federal constitution and that it was not repugnant to the equal protection clause.

"That there is a widespread conviction of the necessity for legislation of this character is indicated by the adoption of similar statutes in several other States," said the opinion.

"Freedom of speech which is secured by the Constitution does not confer an absolute right to speak, without responsibility, whatever one may choose, or an unrestricted and unbridled license giving immunity for every possible use of language and preventing the punishment of those who abuse this freedom."

"That a State in the exercise of its police power may punish those who abuse this freedom by utterances inimical to the public welfare, tending to incite to crime, disturb the public peace or endanger the foundations of organized government and threaten its overthrow by unlawful means, is not open to question."

Evidence to Establish Conspiracy.

"Fear of serious injury can not alone justify suppression of free speech and assembly," Justice Brandeis declared in a statement in which Justice Holmes joined. "Even imminent danger can not justify resort to prohibitions of these functions essential to effective democracy, unless the evil apprehended is relatively serious."

They asserted they were unable to agree that "assembling with a political party, formed to advocate the destruction of a proletarian revolution by mass action at some date necessarily far in the future, is not a right within the protection of the fourteenth amendment."

There was evidence, however, to establish the existence of a conspiracy on the part of members of the Industrial Workers of the World to commit present serious crimes and likewise to show that a conspiracy would be furthered by the activity of the society of which Miss Whitney was a member, the statement concluded, declaring that under these circumstances the judgment of the State court could not be disturbed.

In the Fiske case Justice Sanford said there was no evidence produced "that the Industrial Workers of the World taught, advocated or suggested the duty, necessity, propriety or expediency of crime, criminal syndicalism, sabotage, or other unlawful acts or methods."

The court found enough in the literature circulated by Burns, however, to sustain his conviction when the evidence offered was considered in connection with some elements of criminal syndicalism charged.

The announcement of the acquisition was made by Mr. Lea here today shortly after the last of $2,500,000 of 6½% debenture bonds had been sold. This financing represents part of the purchase price of the two Memphis newspapers.

The purchase was made from the estate of the late C. P. J. Mooney and other principal stockholders.

MAGDONALD HITS DRY

Prohibition Is Great Effort to Keep People Decent, He Declares.

LAUDS U. S. CORDIALITY

New York, May 16 (By A. P.).—Ramsay MacDonald, former British prime minister, who is just completing a month's visit to the United States, believes that prohibition is a great pious effort to keep people decent and does not merit the sneers of visitors who find it a subject for snarls.

"So many of our smart people have been over here and sneered at the prohibition law, but when I go back I am going to take the other side," he said. "It is a great effort to keep people decent and to enable men to find it easier to do their duty by their families and to spend their money on necessities."

While stating that his recent illness had prevented his seeing enough of the enforcement of prohibition to venture an opinion of this phase, the British labor leader said that he would like to see a great moral appeal to all good citizens to respect the law.

"Read Plato on the sacredness of the law," he said.

MacDonald, who came to the United States for an 11-day visit to renew acquaintances of a honeymoon trip many years ago, and then passed most of his time in Philadelphia hospital with a throat infection, will sail tomorrow night for England aboard the Berengaria with his daughter, Ishmael.

Fully recovered from his illness, but still shaky, he greeted interviewers this afternoon in a little study at the Henry Street settlement on the Lower East Side, where he and his daughter are guests of Lillian D. Wall, noted American social worker.

"I am tremendously impressed with the need of America and Great Britain to understand each other. I don't want alliances; I don't want agreements; I don't want entanglements of any kind, but I do want understanding."

"It is not true to say that the British people hate or are even angry with Americans. When things are a little bit difficult to understand, the Britisher buries out his feelings about them, but underlying it all is a very sincere desire to feel our arms and the arms of America interlocked now and again, promoting together great human and moral causes."

BRIEFS ARE FILED IN FORD TAX CASE

Assessment of Bad Levies Is Called Vicious and Illegal by Petitioner.

(By the Associated Press.)

Preliminary to oral arguments, set for next Monday, reply briefs in the $30,000,000 Ford tax case were filed yesterday with the board of tax appeals by counsel for the internal revenue bureau and minority stockholders of the Ford Motor Co., who are resisting the effort of the government to levy an additional assessment on the sale of its holdings in 1919 to Henry Ford.

Declaring that the arguments of the former stockholders that the value of stock in the Ford Motor Co., as of March 1, 1919, should be determined by applying a 10 per cent capitalization rate to the estimated annual earning capacity of $24,000,000, were faulty, the government asserted in its brief the question at issue was one of judgment, which could not be solved by formulae.

The brief, filed in the Supreme Court, assailed the assessment of back taxes as a vicious and illegal use of administrative powers.

Leaving of personal assessment of more than $10,000,000 against Senator Couzens, of Michigan, one of the former minority stockholders, was made an object of attack. This case is determined by the government, it was asserted.

LABORITES WALK OUT IN COMMONS DEBATE

Attempt to Limit Argument on Trades Union Bill to 16 Days Is Fought.

London, May 16 (By A. P.).—All the labor members walked out of the house of commons this afternoon in protest when Premier Baldwin moved a resolution limiting debate on the government's trades union bill to sixteen days. The bill would outlaw strikes of a coercive nature.

The premier's resolution to "gullotine" the debate after sixteen days was carried by a vote of 259 to 19, only a few laborites opposing it.

The laborites held a meeting immediately after walking out of the house. It was understood they will return when debate on the bill is resumed.

John Robert Clynes, as spokesman for the opposition in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald, called the government's action "contemptuous and disgraceful," and declared that as a protest against the "gag and bullying" the laborites would leave the house for the next day.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEMS.

One of the problems of the immigration service is the disposition of American citizens who have become insane or public charge while abroad. Foreign countries demand that they shall be returned to this country, but it is often impossible to accept them, as there is no means of knowing to what State they belong. When the government refuses to receive these citizens it is a matter of astonishment to foreign governments. The explanation of this is a dual government, in which the State must be consulted, leaves the foreigners con-

A great, free people, selling its soul to avoid being called boobs and yokels!

Who are these boobs, yokels, 100-percenters, Babbits, Rotarians, et al? Why, the doctors, lawyers, teachers, merchants, mechanics, farmers, builders—the men who feed the country and build it and boss it—all of us, in fact, except a few who sit on a fence, noses in air, and spit venom at more useful people.

The happiest country is one in which the most voters can be scared by mention of "red" influence.

You can't judge people by the men they elect to office, but by the twaddle men use to get elected.

The intelligent are born that way. The "intellectuals" get that way by thinking too much about how intelligent they are.

We call them ghost towns in California where there are seven times seven of them, and more, in the hills where the Forty-niners delved. They range from considerable standing, though empty, blocks of brick or stone buildings where a few old-timers doze away the hours in the pleasant air of the hills to those completely perished camps where nothing but rows of stone chimneys standing in the brush tell of the fever of life there 75 years ago. The greatest range of ghost towns lies along the Mother Lode. They make the most romantic part of California, the scenes of Bret Harte's tales and Mark Twain's yarns. Some day the round of them will be a great tourist pilgrimage—as it should be now.

Weather and Radio. Philadelphia Record: A man in the tall grass districts has suggested to the Federal radio commission that radio interference may be responsible for the great prevalence of floods at the present time. It would be hard to say

Various methods have been tried to stop speeding, but none of them has succeeded; on the contrary, the number of deaths from this cause is steadily mounting, year by year. It is not the human nature to resist the fatal lure of the insane and murderous amusement.

The only way to curb speed is to make speeding impossible. It is time for the United States Federal government to act.

Speed should be limited at its source. With the greatest respect for the government at Washington, I venture to propose the passing of a Federal law absolutely prohibiting the manufacture of automobiles, for use upon interstate streets and highways, capable of attaining a speed dangerous to human

Such a law should have been passed twenty years ago: hundreds of thousands of human lives would then have

Nancy Goes A-Shopping

For the name of the shops at which these things may be purchased write Nancy Carey, The Washington Post, or call her office, Main 4205, Branch 40.

We have shopped for things for the house, and things for myself. We have found things for grown men by way of neckties, gloves and the like, and things for the schoolgirl, but we have not, so far, shopped for things for the royal highness member of the family—the baby. I could not resist the gowns for small personages that are on sale at a local shop. They are of very sheer white batiste, entirely handmade, with hand-embroidered scallops and sprays of hand embroidery at the neck. The yoke and cuffs of these tiny dresses are put in with dainty embroidery, and they are thoroughly well made. I found them tremendously appealing, and feel that they will make most satisfactory baby gifts, and most reasonable—as they sell for $1.45 each.

We have worn flowers on our shoulders for ages past, and we may, some of us, welcome a change from these well-known flowers for use in dressing up an evening gown to give it something of a touch of individuality. There are little twisted rosettes of georgette to be had at one of the local shops, rosettes made of little tubings of georgette, with a few of the streamers hanging down as we are accustomed to see the foliage and stems of flower rosettes hang down. They come in the delicate shades of powder blue, buff and tan, soft green, rose and yellow, and we may find that they add materially to our afternoon or evening gown at $1 each. One is, of course, sufficient to grace the shoulders, a combination of two would be too much rosette.

Tomato Sauce.
Ingredients—
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup tomato juice from cooked or canned tomatoes
Salt, pepper and dash of paprika
Method—
Melt butter and stir in flour to make smooth paste. Add liquid gradually and let thicken.

Fish Mousse (French Dish).
(Mrs. A. L. Cundall.)
2 cups of ground halibut (raw)
1 cup of bread crumbs
1 heaping tablespoon of butter
1 teaspoon of tarragon vinegar
Half teaspoon of celery salt
1 teaspoon of table salt
Half pint of whipped cream
Whites of four eggs
Melt the butter and add the flour and enough hot milk to make a paste. Stir the ground fish into the paste and add the whipped cream and the rest of the ingredients. Stir in the eggs last, after they have been whipped until stiff. Grease two small fish molds with butter and pack the mixture in a pan of warm water. Place the pan in a moderate oven. Bake three-quarters of an hour. If contents brown too quickly, place a cover over the molds until done. When cooked, turn out on a platter and serve with a bit of grated onion in the tomato sauce.

Timbales of Lobster and Cucumber.
(Mrs. Emily Miller.)
1 tablespoon gelatin.
3 tablespoons cold water.
1 cup boiling water.
1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon white pepper.
½ teaspoon paprika.
2 cups boiled lobster meat.
1 cup chopped cucumber.
Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Add vinegar, lemon juice, salt, pepper and paprika. Cool. Flake lobster meat fine and add to chopped cucumber. Stir into gelatin mixture, with more lemon juice if desired. Pour into individual molds and place in coldest section of refrigerator to become thoroughly chilled. Turn out on crisp lettuce and garnish with strips of pimiento. This recipe makes six servings.

Salmon Mousse with Cucumber Sauce.
(Mrs. A. L. Cundall.)
1 can salmon.
¾ cup milk.
1 teaspoon mustard.
¼ cup vinegar.
¼ tablespoon gelatin.
½ tablespoon salt.
½ tablespoon sugar.
½ tablespoon flour.
½ tablespoons melted butter.
Yolks of 2 eggs.
2 tablespoons cold water.
Mix dry ingredients, add egg yolks, butter, milk and vinegar. Cook in double boiler, stir until thick; add gelatin soaked in cold water; add to salmon flaked and fill a mold. It will set when cold. Garnish with lettuce and surround with cucumber sauce.

Cucumber Sauce.
Beat ½ cup cream stiff, add ¼ teaspoon salt and slowly 2 tablespoons vinegar; then stir in one cucumber pared and chopped.

Tuna Mold.
(Miss Mary Shean.)
2 cups tuna fish, flaked.
1 tablespoon pimiento, chopped.
3 green olives, chopped.
1 cucumber pickle, chopped.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon pepper.
¼ teaspoon paprika.
¾ cup heavy mayonnaise.
Mix tuna fish, pimiento, olives and pickle together. Add lemon juice, salt, pepper and paprika. Pack in mayonnaise and pack in fancy mold or in individual molds. Place in coldest section of the refrigerator until ready to serve—at least two hours chilling time should be allowed. Serve on crisp leaves of lettuce or romaine with extra mayonnaise dressing. This recipe makes six servings.

Baked Stuffed Fish.
(Miss Agnes W. Wilson.)
Remove vital organs and the eyes. Wash thoroughly, stuff not too full and sew up with white cotton thread and large needle. Place on slices of breakfast bacon in a pan. Dredge with salt, pepper and flour, and put a thin slice of bacon on top. Bake until well browned and tender and serve with tart tomato sauce.

Stuffing.
One large fish—Ingredients—
1 cup bread crumbs
1 teaspoon onion, chopped fine
Quarter teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
2 egg yolks or 1 egg.
Quarter teaspoon pepper
Quarter cup melted butter
One small fish—
2 tablespoons bread crumbs
Quarter teaspoon chopped onion
Speck salt
1 tablespoon egg
Half tablespoon melted butter.

Adventure CHIC
Concerning Sweaters

AND, how four important Paris dress-makers put their heads together and decided to put sweaters on the style map—which, needless to say, they did with the aid of a few new necklines and a course in stripes.

SUCH stripes—and such necklines! They took one from the picturesque garb of the French nation; they even took one from the usually stupid sweaters—but they worked them up in lovely soft stitchings, rainbow colorings, dashing effects—and so what does it matter whence they came—they're the very last word in chic.

ADVENTURE into our new sportswear shop—today—and you'll find them: replicas of Vionnet, Suzanne, Talbot, Drecoll and Patou inspirations temptingly priced at $5 to $16.50.

ANCIENT ROMAN CITY, BURIED BY VESUVIUS, IS BEING UNCOVERED

Herculaneum Suffered in Same Disaster That Struck Pompeii in 79 A. D.

KING ON SCENE AS TASK OF EXCAVATION STARTS

Town Is Believed to Hold Vast Stores of Archeological Treasures.

Resina, Italy, May 16 (By A. P.).—A labor which has defied human ingenuity for 1,848 years was begun today under auspices of the Italian government.

King Victor Emmanuel officially inaugurated today the work of excavating the ancient Roman city of Herculaneum, which with its neighbor Pompeii was buried in 79 A. D. by an eruption of Mount Vesuvius. Pompeii has been excavated, but it is hoped that Herculaneum will prove an even richer trove of archeological treasure, since it was a summer resort of the rich instead of being a commercial town like Pompeii.

The king came to the opening ceremony today in regal style on board the royal yacht, accompanied by four destroyers and receiving salutes from all sides. A great throng welcomed the king on his arrival at Portici, built partly over the ruins of Pompeii. Many of the gathering came from families which in times past have suffered loss and death through the wrath of "the mountain," whose smoke-crowned heights formed the background for today's ceremony. All the crowd were in holiday dress, the buildings and fishing boats in the harbor were decorated, and even Vesuvius was declared to be smoking a little more freely.

Under 100 Feet of Lava.

Herculaneum, buried about 100 feet under lava and mud, stretches up the slope of Vesuvius from the Bay of Naples. It lies partly under Resina and Portici and also under some of the vineyards which produce the famous "Fears of Christ" wine.

An exact picture of conditions of life in Roman times is expected to be found in stone-encrusted Herculaneum. Mosaic destroyed the papyrus manuscripts in Pompeii, but since Herculaneum was overwhelmed by lava instead of ash, directors of the excavation assert that it holds the world's last hope of finding unknown Graeco-Roman manuscripts. Besides various illuminating facts about the daily life of the Romans, the excavators contemplate the possibility of discovering the library of some Roman gentleman which might contain copies of some of the popular Roman comedies which have been lost except for allusions to them by the classical writers.

Although the excavations were inaugurated officially today, they have been going on for some time. In fact, the excavators were able today to show the king an intricately designed mosaic floor about 10 yards square which they found recently.

American Drills Used.
At a given signal this morning a group of workmen began digging with picks, while others sent American-made drills burrowing into the volcanic tufa surrounding the excavation. Incidentally, this is said to be the first archeological enterprise in which such modern excavating methods and machinery were utilized.

Excavation will proceed rapidly and the debris will be carted away until a point 10 feet above the buried city is reached. After that the work will be continued by hand, all material being carefully examined and care taken to avoid breaking the precious objects sought.

Tunnels like those in coal mines will be constructed, with piles supporting the roofs of the tunnels, which will be strengthened further with boards. The part of the city already opened consists of one main street several hundred feet long, as well as several side streets. Everything has been found remarkably well preserved, indicating that little was saved at the time of the fatal eruption. It is expected that the baths and a number of houses will be uncovered this year, but completion of the undertaking will take many years.

Maryland Planning Board Has Meeting

Five members of the new Maryland National Capital park and planning commission, created by the Maryland legislature to extend the plans of the National Capital park and planning commission to nearby Maryland, held an organizational meeting yesterday afternoon in the Evans building. The membership of the commission is as yet incomplete, Gov. Ritchie not having appointed the third member of the Prince Georges county delegation. Those now comprising the group are Irvin Owings, chairman, and T. Howard Duckett, of Prince Georges county, and Robert G. Hilton, George P. Hoover and P. Blair Lee, of Montgomery county. Thomas Hampton is secretary-treasurer.

Explosion Injures Woman.
When gasoline exploded in a stove in the kitchen at 927 New Jersey avenue northwest yesterday afternoon, Constance Kalla, 18 years old, was burned on her legs. She was treated at Homeopathic hospital. Her injuries are not serious.

Firestone Dealers

Have Purchased 100% More GUM-DIPPED TIRES

[This Year Compared With Same Period Last Year]

THE demand from car owners for Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has given Firestone Dealers a large increase in volume that enables them to sell these tires to you at the lowest prices in the history of the industry.

On the cars of motorists everywhere, in the every-day service of the largest truck and bus operators, these wonderful tires are delivering unheard-of long mileage together with greater safety and comfort.

The Firestone Balloon Tread, scientifically designed three years ago, and unchanged today, follows the contour of the tire carcass with no excess rubber at the edges to cause "shoulder breaks." Narrow rider strips permit the tread to yield to depressions and cling to the road, preventing skidding. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles.

The tread, however, is not the only important part of the balloon tire. This tread must be placed on a carcass that has the qualifications to withstand the terrific flexing that this design permits. The Firestone carcass is made of cords dipped in a rubber solution which not only saturates and insulates every fiber of every cord, but unifies sidewalls with carcass, eliminating any possibility of separation under the extreme flexing of low-pressure tires.

Many Firestone Dealers are prepared to take your old tires, offering you a liberal allowance on a new set of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires to start the motoring season.

To meet a demand for a low price tire and tube, Firestone designed and manufactures Oldfield Tires and Tubes for Firestone Dealers only. They can furnish you with these tires at the low prices quoted, carrying the Standard Manufacturers' Guarantee.

DAY'S PRICES OF BONDS BOND SALES OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE BOND SALES OF NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

INCLINED TO EASE OFF

Chesapeake Corporation 5s Again Among Leaders—In- dustrials Do Well.

FOREIGN LIST IRREGULAR

New York, May 16 (By the Associated Press).—Trading in the bond market was unusually light today and prices were inclined to ease. Last week's heavy volume of new offerings undoubtedly had much to do with the slowing up of the market.

Chesapeake Corporation 5s were again among the market leaders, although the demand fell off sharply, and there were evidences of profit taking in the steel securities. Delaware and Hudson convertible 5s dropped nearly 3 points in sympathy with the steel securities.

Industrial mortgages, on the whole, were a good deal better than themselves. Granby recovering 4 points, while Bethlehem Steel was well supported. A feature was the heavy demand for U. S. Rubber 5s and General Investment accumulated on the settlement of legal difficulties, and the prospect that outstanding bonds will be largely redeemed.

A point gain in Brooklyn Union Gas 5s was balanced by a similar loss for Northern Ohio Telephone & Telegraph. German Government 6s, however, recovered smartly from their recent slump, which reflected the weakness of the stock on the Berlin bourse. Foreign issues generally were without definite trend.

Moderately heavy selling of second Liberty 4 1/2s stood out in the Federal government group. Formal offering is expected this week or next of the contemplated $60,000,000 Goodway Tire was the outstanding feature, climbing 3 points to 52 1/2.

New York, May 16 (By the Associated Press).—Except for a few issues, which were quiet but for special considerations, price movements in the curb market today were largely without ground. The volume of trading was abnormally small, total sales falling below 20,000 shares.

RAIN IN CLEVELAND BOON TO CRIPPLED NATIONALS

Yale and Foes To Forego Scouting

Maryland U. Among Colleges in Newest Football Pact.

Practice Contrary to Spirit of Sport, Is Holding.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 16 (By A. P.)—Yale will not scout its opponents on the fall schedule, it was officially announced here tonight.

Yale's opponents on the fall schedule, it further was stated, have definitely accepted the proposal put forward, to support the nonscouting principle and practice in their games with Yale.

The official statement on the subject on behalf of the Yale University Athletic Association was made by Prof. George H. Nettleton, chairman of its board of control.

"With the generous cooperation and assured support of all institutions on Yale's 1927 football schedule," the statement said, "Yale will conduct her entire football season without resort to the practice of scouting opposing teams."

"The general purposes, method and spirit of the proposal are indicated in the subjoined invitation of March 30, sent to the athletic authorities of Bowdoin college, the University of Georgia, Brown university, the United States Military Academy, Dartmouth college, the University of Maryland, Princeton university and Harvard university."

The Yale invitation of March 30 read in part:

"In the belief that 'organized scouting' in football is contrary to the best interests and spirit of college sport, the board of control of the Yale University Athletic Association cordially invites you to consider the general views and the specific suggestions here offered."

"In the absence of adverse legislation the practice of securing expert reports on the play and players of opposing teams has rapidly developed into a formal and expensive system."

"Some who readily admit the evils of 'organized scouting' urge that its abolition might substitute an atmosphere of distrust for that of frank and open competition."

"Our experience and judgment confirm other testimony that teams and coaches can and will cooperate in maintaining in full integrity the 'nonscouting' principle and practice. We are convinced that the abolition of 'organized scouting' is thoroughly practicable as well as wholly desirable."

Harvard agrees to Pact, Unconvinced of Its Value

Cambridge, Mass., May 16 (By A. P.)—Harvard, in consenting to enter into a nonscouting agreement with Yale for one year, remains unconvinced as to the value of the policy, Crimson athletic heads indicated tonight.

Harvard's viewpoint was set forth in a letter from William J. Bligh, Harvard director of athletics, to Prof. Nettleton, chairman of the Yale athletic board of control, made public tonight.

The letter proposed that the Yale and Harvard coaches exchange whatever information they use in their seven preliminary games.

Macks Hit 4 Homers; Browns Beaten, 10-8

St. Louis, May 16 (By A. P.)—The Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns each got twelve hits today, but the Athletics excelled in hitting, distance and won, 10 to 8.

The visitors annexed sixteen extra bases, including four home-runs with two by Simmons and one each by Cochrane and Cobb. The Browns used four pitchers.

O'Rourke was put out in the seventh inning for arguing with the umpires.

Jack Sharkey Confident He'll Win

Will Move Out of Boston If Beaten by Maloney, He Says.

Finishes Heavy Work for 15-Round Bout on Thursday.

NEW YORK, May 16 (By A. P.)—Jack Sharkey says he will "move out of Boston" if he loses his heavyweight battle with Jimmy Maloney Thursday night—but he just can't see the reason for backing up to the doors of his home there for some time to come.

The former job in Uncle Sam's navy finished heavy work today for the 16-round scrap in the Yankee stadium that will furnish a finalist in Tex Rickard's series to defend Gen. Tunney's challenger.

A month of strenuous training in New York and Boston has put Sharkey into perfect condition—and has crystallized confidence of victory in him until it is almost a part of his workouts.

"There is only room enough in Boston for one of us," Sharkey said, after he finished 10 rounds of bag-punching, shadow boxing and rope skipping, "and that one will be me."

The big Bostonian, conqueror of Harry Wills and Mike McGuire in his last major engagements, weighed 192½ today.

Sharkey's final workouts have been hampered by a split in his eye-lid, caused several days ago by the wearing of a headgear during a boxing session. The cut precluded further boxing and caused a slight shift of betting odds in favor of Maloney on the theory that lack of sparring would dull Sharkey's punching edge.

The wound has healed rapidly, however, and Sharkey is confident he won't be handicapped by it.

Robins Feast on Yde To Beat Pirates, 9-5

New York, May 16 (By A. P.)—The Brooklyn Robins hammered Emil Yde hard in the first three innings of a game here today and easily defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-5.

The defeat knocked the Buccaneers out of second place in the National League.

Robins, who had been in the lead in the first three innings of the game, was hit heavily in the final innings, but stayed the distance, Pittsburgh outlasted Brooklyn, 13 to 11, led by Grantham, who made a homer and a double.

WHISKERY WINNING THE KENTUCKY DERBY IN THROBBING FINISH

The distance separating the first and second horses in Kentucky's famous turf classic has been described as a swollen lip. Above, Whiskery (on outside with white blinkers) is seen crossing the finish mark, with "Pony" McAtee astride, a bare nose ahead of Osmand. Sande's black and white striped silks are seen on the rail as he urges Osmand to the final stride. Jock is the third horse with Hydromel (with blinkers) and Bostonian also in the picture. The remainder of the field trailed far behind.

PAULINO BOUT REFUSED BY DEMPSEY

Former Champion to Meet Sharkey or Maloney.

NEW YORK, May 16 (By A. P.)—Jack Dempsey has turned down Tex Rickard's proposal to fight Paulino Uzcudun about July 1, but at the same time agreed to meet the winner of this Thursday's heavyweight battle between Jim Sharkey and Jim Maloney at a later date.

This shake-up in the comeback plans of the former champion was disclosed tonight by Rickard in connection with a testimonial dinner to the promoter by the Madison Square Garden club and its "400 millionaires."

Dempsey, according to Rickard's revised schedule, will meet the Sharkey-Maloney winner early in August in New York to determine Gene Tunney's opponent in a title bout in September.

The former champion may have one or two tune-up fights in the West beforehand, but he will engage in only one big elimination preliminary.

This, Rickard intimated, virtually puts Paulino out of the heavyweight picture, although there is a possibility he will be matched with Jack Delaney on June 22 at the Yankee stadium.

Cards, Haines Hurling, Beat Phils in Duel, 2-1

Philadelphia, May 16 (By A. P.)—Jess Haines was a hurling duel from Alex Ferguson this afternoon and St. Louis evened up the series with Philadelphia by taking a close game, 2 to 1.

It was a bitter battle from start to finish and the Cardinals owe their success to the ability to hit in the first and sixth innings.

Lightning Hits Miss Leitch On Links as Americans Lose

Bolt Strikes Umbrella of Golf Champion, Causing Intense Pain—Virginia Wilson Lone U. S. Player Winning Tourney.

NEW CASTLE, County Down, Ireland, May 16 (By A. P.)—A stormy day of golf, during which Miss Cecil Leitch, famous English champion, was struck by lightning and many players were unnerved by the electrical flashes and heavy rolling thunder, saw the elimination today of all the American contenders from the British ladies' open championship with the exception of Miss Virginia Wilson of Chicago.

The storm was particularly severe during the round between Miss End Wilson, of Nottinghamshire, and Miss Janet Brooks, of Englewood, N. J., which Miss Wilson won by 6 and 4.

On another part of the course, Miss Leitch, the present open champion, who was not defending her title, was watching the matches when at the sixteenth green an umbrella in her left hand was hit by lightning, the hand and entire left arm stiffened and became intensely painful.

A physician among the spectators gave emergency treatment. Later she received further treatment, and it is thought she has not suffered serious injury.

The championship matches started this morning over the Seagirt course of the Royal County Down club at the foot of the Mourne mountains. Miss Virginia Wilson won her way into the third round, and with two French girls, Mlle. de la Chaume and Nanette Leblanc, remains a formidable challenger for the British title.

In the first round Janet Brooks defeated Miss D. M. H. Arbuthnot, Ireland, 5 and 3. In the second round she was defeated by Miss End Wilson, of Nottinghamshire, 6 and 4.

Miss Virginia Wilson, of Wentzville club, Chicago, defeated Mrs. John Eraser, Sunningdale, 4 and 3. Miss Simon Thiel, of la Chaume, France, defeated Mrs. E. Garon, Thornton Park, 2 and 1.

Team Reeling From Five Defeats

Lisenbee to Oppose Shaute, of Indians, in Today's Game.

Warm Days Awaited by Johnson and Coveskie.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

CLEVELAND, May 16.—Continued rain in the West would prove a boon to the Washington club's chances in the pennant race. Manager Harris declared today after the second game of the Cleveland series had been prevented by a downpour.

Despite the fact that postponed games will necessitate double-headers later in the season, Manager Harris was at a loss at today's postponement at a time when his crippled team is being battered about by Western opposition, and is the victim of five straight defeats.

"Let it rain," Bucky said this morning, "for we'll be in better condition for these games on our team have been at least, we can't be any worse off. By that time Walter Johnson will be taking his regular turn. Stan Coveskie, I hope, will have worked all of the many kinks out of his system, and some of the other pitchers will have rounded into form."

"Rice and Gossin are back in the game now, but Rice has not yet hit his stride, while it will take 'Doc' Gossin several more days before he can be expected to pound the ball with the regularity which marked his work before he was taken ill."

"Blue and I, although playing, are not yet right, either, and we should do a lot of improving once we get a spell of good warm weather. It wouldn't hurt my feelings, any," Harris continued, "if one of the games in Detroit was rained out, too."

And the Washington leader can not be blamed for being depressed at the obvious failure of a starting pitcher, up against this spring. The handicap had enough with two thirds of the regular outfield and half of the inner defense out of commission, but these are only a part of Harris' troubles.

Johnson's broken leg, Coveskie's indications of a dead salary wing, Marberry's failure as a starting pitcher, and the slump of Crowder and Murray, have left Bucky only Thurston and Lisenbee as regular starters on whom he can depend. Braxton, who has some good relief work, and rookies Hadley and Burke, whom he has been afraid to start.

Thus his only good chance of winning has been when Thurston and Lisenbee have started, with the gaps between being a big gamble. And teams with but two regulars in the lineup will not get very far in this league.

A stretch of warm weather, it seems, is the only thing which will help the Nationals in this respect. It is expected to restore life to Covey's arm, to start Crowder and Murray on winning ways, and to bring Walter Johnson back to the races. The Old Master's arm seems to be in fine shape, but the cold and rainy spells which he has encountered in the West have prevented him from getting the work necessary for his injured arm.

When Johnson took this trip, it was thought that he would be able to take a turn against Detroit the latter part of this week, but he stated tonight that this was out of the question and he probably will not be ready until about June 1—as was announced by The Post several weeks ago.

COMMISSION TODAY TO DISCUSS MOVING OF JUSTICE OFFICE

Building Board Open-Minded on Plans for Federal Construction Projects.

ARCHITECTS' INSTITUTE STUDIES PLAZA DESIGNS

State Organizations Will Report Findings to Officials Following Consideration.

Members of the public buildings commission, which meets this morning at 10 o'clock, are open-minded regarding plans to relocate the projected Department of Justice building and arrange new Federal buildings in the triangle north of the Mall, according to the Louvre plan.

The commission will consider transfer of the Justice building from its original designated site between Pennsylvania avenue, Fifteenth, Fourteenth and D streets, to another location, possibly further east along Pennsylvania avenue, to permit widening of the Fifteenth street-Pennsylvania avenue intersection for future traffic congestion relief.

Merits of the latest plan of arrangement for new Federal buildings, by which they would be joined in a single structure forming a boundary for the triangle and transected by arched traffic ways, will be discussed before the commission announces adherence to the original plan of erecting the buildings as separate units or rejects it in favor of the former.

Groups to Aid Work.

The fine arts commission, which has officially approved the Louvre plan, announced yesterday that numerous State groups of the American Institute of Architects will study phases of plaza and street development for Washington and will report their advice to the commission and the National Capital park and planning commission, the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Rhode Island groups having already begun studies.

Projects to be considered are plaza treatment for Fifteenth and H streets northeast, the Sixteenth Street Heights, key bridge approaches from both sides of the Potomac river, development of the section south of the Washington monument and the area north of Pennsylvania avenue.

At this month's session of the fine arts commission, extended to a two-day conference May 27-28, a design for a new heating plant for the bureau of standards contemplated for the north end of the grounds near Connecticut avenue and Van Ness street will be presented.

Bridge to Be Considered.

Architectural problems in connection with the Arlington Memorial bridge also will be presented. The principal change, if any from the original plan of the bridge, is brought about by a projected expansion of Arlington National cemetery from its Georgetown road boundary to the Potomac river.

Under the original plan, the bridge entrance to the cemetery is at a point just west of Georgetown road, but in the event the cemetery is extended to the river, the bridge approach may be moved further and the cemetery extended.

Relocation of District activities that must move to make way for the new Federal building construction in the triangle also will be considered by the public buildings commission today.

Stenographer Denied Writ on Tax Board

The application of O. T. Smith, public stenographer, for a writ of mandamus against the board of tax appeals and J. Raymond McCall, comptroller general, to compel them to permit competitive bidding for the making of the record of the proceedings of the board, was denied yesterday by Justice Siddons in circuit court. It was decided that Smith had no interest such as would entitle him to bring either the board or McCall before the court.

The stenographic work of the board is being done by Floyd Moore by reason of the extension of a contract between Moore and the board. The extension was approved by McCall. Assistant District Attorney Leo A. Rover appeared for the board and McCall.

TAXI DRIVER IS INDICTED IN DEATH BY COLLISION

Manslaughter Charge Against Chauffeur; True Bill in Erlebach's Robbery.

2 NAMED IN "GOLD" SALE

Manslaughter is charged against Charles A. Ross, taxi driver, in an indictment returned yesterday by grand jury. Ross is charged with responsibility in the death of Francis B. Sheridan on October 29, 1926, following a collision between the taxicab and an automobile in which Sheridan was riding at North Capitol street and Randolph place. Sheridan was thrown through the windshield.

Housebreaking and larceny are charged against four defendants named in an indictment returned in connection with the looting of the establishment of Erlebach's, Inc., at 1210 F street northwest, on January 26, a rear window was forced and about $25,000 worth of apparel stolen and carted away. The indictment accuses Willie Browne, a Panamanian, and Ernest Richardson, Walter Hercules and James Sampson as the burglars and alleges that they stole $3,725 worth of coats and dresses. Detective John Crosby of the New York police arrested Browne on January 29 and recovered 51 dresses and 14 coats from the bottom of a dumb waiter in an apartment house where Browne lives.

Hyman Cohen and Louis Harris were indicted on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the transfer of a box of alleged gold to the late a tailor, of 505 Eleventh street southeast, on April 7 for $1,100. Lewis bought the box of "gold" with his savings, according to the police.

Willie Galloway, a barber, was indicted on a charge of mutilating and destroying certain records of the veteran's bureau. The defendant is a former soldier and was drawing disability compensation until a reexamination of his physical condition caused the bureau authorities to discontinue payments. According to the charges against him Galloway visited the bureau on December 22, 1926, and in a fit of rage destroyed the papers showing the results of the laboratory tests.

George L. Craddock was indicted on a charge of larceny after trust. He is alleged to have appropriated to his own use a total of $750 which was entrusted to him in September, 1925, by Emmanuel Williams and his wife, Annie M. Williams, of 928 Third street southeast, as part payment for the purchase of premises at 347 L street southeast.

The names of other persons indicted and the charges against them will be found in the daily legal record of The Post.

HARLAND TAKES OATH AS TRAFFIC DIRECTOR

The Question of Solid-Tired Trucks on Upper Sixteenth Street First Problem.

William H. Harland, Washington's new traffic director, was sworn in yesterday. He retired to his new office at once to familiarize himself with the work, making no avowal as to policies. Assistant Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge, Harland's predecessor, was first to congratulate the new director. He undertook, at his chief's request, to familiarize Harland with his new work.

The commissioners handed Director Harland a tough problem to solve within five minutes after their secretary, Daniel E. Gargies, had administered the oath of office. It was the question of whether solid-tired trucks should be barred from upper Sixteenth street northwest, on the request of Mrs. John B. Henderson and others.

A large audience of District attaches, including the commissioners, the assistants to the engineer commissioner, department heads and the entire personnel of the traffic department, witnessed the brief ceremony.

Plumber's Helper Sues.
Edward Washington, 490 K street southwest, filed suit yesterday in circuit court against John J. Hughes and David B. Bell to recover $750 damages for alleged personal injuries. Through attorneys Elliott & Nelma, the plaintiff says that on July 26, 1926, while employed as a plumber's helper by the defendants on a construction job in the 1500 block of Trinitas avenue northeast he was struck in the eye by a pipe splitter.
